PRETTY SERVICE SUNDAY EVENING

Parade of Church Members and Others from Catholic Church to Cemetery Followed by Beautiful
Memorial Service.

With the fast sinking sun of a beautiful spring evening casting its radiance over the scene, a procession of five hundred children and members of the Catholic church, headed by Grand Army veterans, wended its way to the Catholic cemetery Sunday evening and there held impressive services while veterans and children placed flags and flowers upon the graves of Civil War soldiers who had "gone before."

The event which has come to be an annual observance was much larger this year than at any preceding time.
It was the first year that the members of the Post had been asked to unite and a goodly number were present.
The procession was much longer than ever before and the audience in the cemetery numbered into the hundreds.
The beauty and solemnity of the celebration impressed all.

Preceding the march to the cemetery
was a procession through the church and then the line of march to the cemetry was begun. Three altar boys bearing the cross preceded the column and were followed by veterans. Next came many little girls, all wearing white dresses and wreaths of daisies in their hair, and carrying flowers. Older girls followed these, then the Sodality, the choir, members of the church and the members of St. Francis Xavier's Beneficial Society. Accompanying the procession were Fr.
Dougherty, local priest, and several visiting priests with the altar boys.

As the long column proceeded slowly, religious and patriotic songs were sung, the music being distinctly audible in the stillness of the evening in other portions of town. The parade was witnessed by a large number of persons the majority of whom followed it to the cemetery.

There all gathered round the mound supporting the cross and Fr. Dougherty made a brief speech. The pretty ceremony of strewing flowers was commenced as the large audience remained about the cross and sang "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean." Prayers were said and the service closed with "Nearer My God to Thee." The line
then returning to the church.

The large auditorium was specially prepared for the service which followed. The altars were decorated with a profusion of flowers and the lighting arrangements never showed to better advantage. The veterans attended this service also and the sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. W. W.
Whalen, of York, former assistant pastor at this place. Fr. Dougherty, the present pastor; Fr. Connaghtan, of York, and Fr. Scanlan, of McSherry-town, also took part. There was special music and the close of the service concluded what has come to be one of the features of Gettysburg's observance of the Memorial Day season.

POST SERVICES

The annual service of Corporal
Skelly Post 9, held on the Sunday
preceding Memorial Day took place Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large audience. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Franklin E. Taylor, of the Presbyterian church, and the choir of that church assisted in the music. Mr. Baer, of Greencastle, sang
"Lead Kindly Light." Prof. Calvin
Hamilton and Hon. P. L. Houck made brief speeches and the custom of placing flags on the draped chairs of the comrades who died during the past year was observed.

The following members of the Post
died during the past year:

John W. Flaherty on August 14, 1911. He was a member of the 77th regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers.
Martin Witmer, a member of Co. G, 101st Pennsylvania Volunteers on August 20, 1911.
Captain James T. Long, of Company
A, 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry, died
August 21, 1911.

Francis Starner, died August 22,
1911. He was a member of Company
K, 184th regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers.

W. H. Adams, on November 25, 1911. He served with the 165th and 184 regiments, Pennsylvania Volunteers.

Samuel McAllister, died January 2,
1912, Company D, 21st Pennsylvania
Cavalry.

Alexander Bucher, Company A, 21st
Pennsylvania Cavalry. Died January 14, 1912.

J. J. Grenoble died January 21, 1912. Mr. Grenoble was a member of the 198th Pennsylvania.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS ELECTION

Majority of Teachers for Next Year are Chosen though Several Remain to be Elected. Salaries Raised.

Gettysburg's School Board has elected a majority of the teachers for the public schools of town for next year.
Teachers will be elected in the near future for the positions not yet filled.

Several increases in salary have been made. Miss Helen Cope's salary is increased from $80 to $70 a month.
Prof. Water Reynolds' from $70 to $85
a month; and Miss Curry's from $42.50 to $50 a month. Prof. Reynolds' increase is due in part to the fact that he will have charge of the commercial course next year in addition to the work he has had this term.

Miss Cope and Miss Curry deserved fully their increases in view of the general satisfaction given. Notwithstanding these increases the Board is able to reduce the tax rate as noted in these columns last week. Miss Lizzie Rummel remains principal of the Meade Building and Miss Rachel Scott
principal of the High street building.

Miss Nora A. Kieffer who appears as a new member of the High School faculty is from Huntingdon. She is a sister of Rev. George Linn Kieffer, of Gettysburg.

The teachers elected up to this time
and their salaries are as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL
W. A. Burgoon, principal	$123.33
Miss Helen Cope	70.00
Walter Reynolds	85.00
Miss Nora A. Kieffer	65.00
Miss Lizzie Rummel, A. Grammar	$55.00
Miss Mary E. Benner, A and B	Grammar $50.00.
Miss Rose Scott, 2nd Intermediate	$50.00.
Miss Hattie McGrew, 1st Interme-	diate $50.00.
Mrs. Wible, 2nd Secondary $50.00
Miss Rachel Scott, 1st Primary	$57.50
Miss Elmira Ruff, 1st Primary	$50.00.
Miss Grace Sachs, 2nd Primary	$50.00.
Miss Ruth P. Milton, 2d and 4th	Grades $50.00.
Miss Annie Major, 5th and 6th	Grades $50.00.
Miss Marie B. B. Curry, Colored	School $50.00.
Mrs. Salome Stewart, substitute.

BIG MONEY IN FEEDING CATTLE

Michael Burgard, of Paradise township, made a nice lot of money the past season by feeding steers. He bought 52 head of feeders five months ago at $5.20 per cwt. and last week received $7.10. When stabled the total weight of the drove was 44,892 pounds and when delivered and weighed last Friday they weighed 62,750 pounds, making a total gain of 17,858 pounds, or an average of 344 pounds.

The total gain in the amount of money is $2,122.42, but it must be remembered, too, that the cattle consumed quite a lot of 80 cent corn and 25 dollar hay. The fat cattle filled three cars and were considered the finest bunch of stock shipped from here
this spring.—East Berlin News

SCOUTS FOR SANE FOURTH

The leaders of the Boy Scout movement are co-operating with the boys throughout the country in a plan to abolish the barbaric method of celebrating the Fourth of July which has cost so many lives. They are working for a "Sane Fourth" with celebrations that promise fun for the boy, patriotic exercises and proper appreciation of the independence of the country. They want to do away with the use of fire crackers. Boy Scouts of America throughout the country have already promised help in doing away with fire crackers and the use of revolvers. Troops in various parts of the country have voted not to use fire crackers or to participate in any dangerous celebrations.

WAS HERE BEFORE

Mr. Baer, soloist at St. James church Sunday morning and evening and at the Grand Army services in the afternoon, will be remembered by some Gettysburg persons as a member of the "Baer Opera Company" which held forth in Xavier Hall a few years ago.
He carried four or five people in the company. Mr. Baer's home is in Greencastle.

LITTLE BOYS IN COUNTY COURT

Youngest Offenders Appear before Judge Swope on Charge of Stealing Four Pairs of Pigeons, to which they Pleaded Guilty

Several cases were disposed of at a session of Court this morning the most interesting of which was one in which two boys, aged 12 and 10 years respectively, were the defendants. They were Harry Shadle and Paul King, both of Littlestown and pleaded guilty
to stealing four pairs of pigeons.
They said that the act was committed
at night and the birds taken from A.
W. Feiser's pigeon house.

The youngsters sold the pigeons and said they were sorry for their offense.
Upon their solemn promise never to do anything of the sort again they were placed on parole for a year, their fathers being present and entering into $300 recognizance each for their good behavior. The constable of Littlestown will report monthly on their conduct. One of the little fellows shed quite a few tears during the proceeding.

John F. Smith was called for a final disposition of his case but it was found necessary to postpone this until June 17. Mr. Smith has been paying to the support of his wife the sum required
by Court.

Mack G. Clay also came before Court and after a conference, he and his wife decided to live together.
Since last Court the defendant has secured a job and, it is said, has abstained from drinking. His father entered into $500 recognizance for his good behavior.

Randolph Norris, colored, was given two months in the county jail after he pleaded guilty to being a public nuisance.

Charles Donson, charged with surety
of the peace, by Policeman Emmons gave his own recognizance in the sum of $300 to keep the peace for three years.

REV. J. D. SOURS

The Rev. J. D. Sours, a native of Adams County and the oldest resident of Mechanicsburg, died early Saturday morning at his home. He was 97 years old on February 23, and until the time of his death retained his faculties, his interest in national and local affairs and the progress of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The Rev. Mr. Sours was born near Idaville, and was reared in an old time country home with strong educational and moral training. He recalled the Jackson campaign, and far beyond that, an incident of the campaign of Shuize and Gregg for Governor of Pennsylvania, and later the Harrison presidential campaign, in which he was one of perhaps 25,000
present at the demonstration at Fort Meigs. He went to Findlay, Ohio, in 1856 to learn cabinetmaking and later became one of the four carpenters who,
in 1857, built the Presbyterian church,
the first church building in Findlay.
He taught school in Findlay and filled positions of township clerk and township superintendent. While in Findlay he joined the Methodist Episcopal church, March 1, 1857. Returning to his Pennsylvania home in 1841, he became a Methodist local preacher in 1844, organizing new societies over a wide field, and the fashion of the old Methodist circuit riders. On September 11, 1856, he married Miss Anna Mary Meers, and in 1869 they moved to Mechanicsburg, where they, with three children, have since resided.

GOOD ADVICE FOR GRADUATES

Baccalaureate Sermon to High School Seniors Advises them to Wear White Garments. Must not be Mental Tramps.

Before an audience which filled St.
James' Lutheran church the Rev. J. B.
Baker preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the High School Sunday evening. The "pit" was reserved for all the pupil
of the High School. Rev. Mr. Baker took for his text "Let thy garment be always white." Ecclesiastes 9: 8. He said in part:

"As commencement days are days of white dresses and spotless lines we have chosen a text suggestive of them.

"The garments referred to however are not those which clothe the body.
The text refers to the spiritual nature and as your life has hitherto been predominantly educational I shall discuss it in an educational way. What soils and spoils the garments of the mind?

"Indolence soils the minds of thousands. There are more mental tramps than physical. They are those who take mental habits from their classmates, who ask other's help for a graduation oration, who always read the lightest literature, who in a trade or profession always do as little thinking as they possibly can.

"Neglect of detail also soils the garments of the mind. Successful men are those who know all the details of their business as a master musician knows all the keys of his piano. Those who fail are usually failures in detail.

"Timidity also soils the mental garments of many. The death warrant of many a scholar is the fear of being original. The world has the impress of Emerson's personality, of Irving's,
of Spenser's but it does not have yours.
Tell the world the truth as you see it.
Your view is unlike that of any other and unless you give it, it will be unspoken forever.

"Another thing that soils the garments of the mind is pessimism. It is worse than Pittsburgh soot. Other things soil the garments of the mind
in spots; pessimism soils the mind all over.

"Don't lose your grip on humanity, don't lose your grip on yourself. You'll begin life with a closing out sale if you do. Pessimism paralyzes us completely and robs us of the victory before we enter the battle.

"Finally let not irreligion stain your mental garments. You are the children of good homes, the objects of many prayers, the center of high hopes.
Keep close to your Savior who cleanses us of all sin and makes us whiter than the snow. Without him your life will be a bell without a clapper, a rose without fragrance, a bird without music, a hearth without fire."

BIGLERVILLE MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial services will be conducted in Biglerville on Saturday afternoon June 1st. The parade will march promptly at 2 o'clock, under the direction of three marshals. It will form on West York and South Main streets, headed by the Biglerville Band, which will be followed by the Sunday School scholars, pupils of the three schools of the town, and Bender's Church, Lodge of Golden Eagles and visiting lodges, Bendersville Band and
G. A. R. and speakers in carriages.
The service at the cemetery will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Floto, master of ceremonies; dirge by band; service by G. A. R.; service by lodge of Eagles; dirge by band and strewing of flowers by Sunday Schools and all who wish to participate; prayer by Rev. T. C. Hesson; Lincoln's address
by Rev. Mr. Floto; oration by Rev.
J. B. Baker, of Gettysburg; benediction by Rev. Mr. Hoffman.

NOW EXPECT 70,000

Colonel Lewis E. Baither, field secretary of the battle anniversary commission, is quoted by an exchange as saying: "This celebration going to be the greatest of the kind ever held by any nation. Every state will participate and we will have the greatest assemblage in the history of the world
since the battle. We will have 70,000 veterans from all parts of the country and the President, Federal Officials, Governors and Congressmen will take part in the four days' program."

THERE will be a special meeting of the fire company Tuesday evening,
May 28th in Engine House at 7 o'clock.
Important business. All members urged to be present. James B. Aumen, secretary.

PERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Paragraphs of News Telling of the Happenings in and about Town.
People Visiting here and those Sojourning Elsewhere.

Mrs. J. U. Fritchey, of Lancaster, has returned home after a visit of several days with relatives in town.

Among those attending the Catholic memorial services Sunday evening were, Rev. Mother Margaret, Superior General of the Sisters of Charity in the United States, and Rev. Mother Bernard, general treasurer of the same order. Both are visiting at the local convent.

Mrs. Boyle has returned to Washington after visiting for a week with Mr.
and Mrs. Heindel. Miss Jeanne Heindel accompanied her to Washington.

Mrs. E. H. True, of East Middle street, was the guest of friends in Hanover today.

William Anghinbaugh, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday at his home in this place.
John L. Shelley, of Harrisburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends
in Gettysburg.

Harry L. Sieber, of Lewistown, was the guest of friends at college over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pannell, of Steelton, spent Sunday with their son, a student at college.

Dr. M. Coover preached in St.
Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover,
on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Heindel, of Carlisle street, are visiting friends in Oakland, Maryland, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chritzman, of Philadelphia, are spending some time at the former's home on Chambersburg street.

C. J. Delone, Esq., of Hanover,
was a business visitor in Gettysburg
today.

Mrs. Samuel Dugan and daughter,
Miss Emma Dugan, of Biglerville,
are visitors in Gettysburg today.

A meeting of the congregation of the College Lutheran church will be held on Wednesday evening, June 5 for the election of a pastor. The name of Rev. Charles P. Wiles, of Washington, will be considered.

A Pennsylvania Railroad tour from points in Pennsylvania and New Jersey registered at the Eagle Saturday evening and remained until this morning
when they left on their return.

Saturday afternoon the State College tennis team defeated the Gettysburg team four matches to two. Some of the best tennis seen here for several years was witnessed in the contests.

Notice has been made in these columns of the proposed march of the Carlisle Scouts to Gettysburg Memorial Day. The Chambersburg Scouts will come also, taking the trip to Caledonia
by trolley on Wednesday evening,
camping on the mountain and hiking
to Gettysburg in the morning.

The college baseball team lost to Dickinson at Carlisle Saturday by the score of 4 to 2. Gettysburg scored two runs in the last inning and would likely have tied the score had not one man been called out for cutting a base.

A few more tickets to the Roosevelt luncheon have been secured. Those who want them can get the necessary information at The Times office.

About 16,000 three year old white pine trees in ten state nursery at Caledonia were killed by freezing during the severe winter.

MOB COATES A WOMAN WITH TAR

Was Dragged From House and Brutally Beaten.

SON WITNESSED OUTRAGE

Ocean City, Md., Officials Accused of Aiding Mob That Assaulted White Woman Accused of Harboring Negroes.

Ocean City, Md., May 27. — Never has Worcester county been more stirred than it is over the action of a gang of thugs, who, claiming official protection, dragged Mary Holzman, an unprotected woman, from her home in Ocean City, showered blows and kicks upon her face and limbs, and then concluded their brutal performance by dipping her into a vat of tar in the presence of her eleven-year-old son who struggled to prevent the outrage.

Terrorized by her experience, the woman has quit the town. She is now being sheltered by Tom Jones, a negro, who lives out in the country three miles.

One of the most startling features of the incident is the fact that the town lights were out when the assault was committed. Mrs. Holzman says the switch was turned through the connivance of the town officials.

However this may be, the men guilty of the outrage boasted while they were subjecting her to the indignities that their act had the sanction of the town council. Since then the boast has been repeated by them. Although the officials of Worcester county seem to have given evidence that they would be perfectly willing to have the whole incident blow over without taking action, they have at last realized that this cannot be done.

Sheriff Hanson, acting under the instructions of State Attorney Johnson, visited Mrs. Holzman at the Jones home, where it was arranged that she should be taken under protection to Snow Hill, the county seat. She demands an investigation, saying she is the victim of defamatory gossip as well as of a most brutal assault.

Mrs. Holzman says the men who assaulted her were fishermen. She was known in the community as "Red light," and resentment was aroused against her because the charge was made that she harbored colored men. She declares that there is absolutely no truth in the report and maintains that the offensive epithet applied to her is entirely unjustified.

The sheriff declared that she had been treated worse than a dog and says the occurrence is the most outrageous that has ever occurred in the community.

Mrs. Holzman's face was so discolored from the blows that those who saw her on the day following the assault did not recognize her. It is still badly disfigured.

Warrants were sworn out by her for the arrest of the three men whose names have been given. Constable Campbell brought the warrants to Ocean City. Word had gone out of the court's action. Gathered at the railroad station were probably a hundred men. Their attitude was threatening. It is believed that there would have been an outbreak of lawlessness if an effort had been made to serve the warrants.

KILLED BY BROKEN BAT

Little Spectator at Game Accidentally Hit by Fragment.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Hit over the head with a broken bat, Frederick H. Ann, eleven years old, of Second street, Camden, N. J., was killed at a baseball game at Barrington, a few miles from Camden.

The accident occurred during a game between Barrington and Lindenwall. Young Ann was standing along the third base line when Walter Githens came to the bat. As Githens struck the ball the bat broke, striking Ann. The boy was knocked unconscious, and by the time a physician had arrived he was dead. The coroner examined the boy and decided that death was caused by a fracture of the skull.

Ball Player's Skull Crushed.

Pottsville, Pa., May 27.—Henry Gibson, of Shenandoah, who was playing third base for the Pottsville Clippers, was probably fatally injured in a game with York Farm. Gibson was at bat and was hit on the head with an inshoot. For five seconds he stood dazed and then collapsed. Pottsville surgeons declared his skull was fractured.

Injured Roosevelt Party Man Dies.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 27.—Major William H. Robinson, who was run over by one of the automobiles in the Roosevelt party on Saturday, died in the City hospital here. Colonel Roosevelt, who helped carry the injured man from the road, was kept in close touch with his condition during the day, and when wired of his death sent his condolences to the widow.

Johnson to Second Roosevelt.

Sacramento, Cal., May 27.—Governor Johnson, requested by Colonel Roosevelt to make the second speech to his nomination at Chicago, wired his acceptance.

PRINCESS ROSPIGLIOSI

American Woman Whose Marriage Pope Won't Recognize.

HOPES FOR PAPAL SANCTION

American Princess Going to Italy to Push Claim Before Vatican.

New York, May 27.—The Princess Rospihlisi, renowned as one of the most beautiful American women who ever married foreign noblemen and an object of wide interest because of her transactions with the Vatican at Rome, arrived in this city from Washington on her way to Italy.

"All the last news that I have heard from Rome has been encouraging," she said. "I am confident that the Vatican will ultimately sanction my marriage."

The princess was originally Marie Jennings Reid. About twenty years ago, when only seventeen, she married Colonel Frederick Parkhurst, of Bangor, Me. He was a Protestant, but a dispensation allowing the marriage was granted. A divorce followed within a few years.

In 1901, at Bar Harbor, Mrs. Reid Parkhurst met Prince Rospihlisi, an Italian nobleman of the highest rank and, like herself, a Catholic. They were married civilly in September of that year at Lamporecchio, the estate of the prince near Florence. A Rospihlisi was once a pope, and the family has stood high in the church for more than six centuries.

MOBILIZING FLEET AT KEY WEST

Rush Orders Cause Warships to Sail South at Once.

New York, May 27.—Responding to rush orders from Washington to proceed forthwith to southern waters, Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, arriving with the cruiser Washington of Tompkinsville, almost immediately raised anchor and steamed for Hampton Roads.

As the flagship was preparing again to get to sea, tugs arrived from the Brooklyn navy yard, with marines gathered from all nearby posts and sent them aboard the battleships Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio and Minnesota. The big fighting ships then left, going full speed past Sandy Hook.

It is understood in New York that other ships of the line will join at Hampton Roads, and that all will proceed to Key West, where there will be a mobilization with other ships already in Cuban waters. The officers who are to command them have been drawn from every post along the Atlantic, from Port Royal, S. C., to Portsmouth, N. H. Every available marine has been taken, and the men go prepared for field duty.

The marines had been ordered to report in heavy marching order, and when they lined up on the parade ground every man had a Burnett Mercedez rapid-fire rifle with him. These rifles are of the newest type used by the marines and will discharge 400 shots a minute.

Ex-Governor Crothers Dead.

Elkton, Md., May 27.—Former Governor Austin L. Crothers, who has been ill of Bright's disease at the home of his nephew, State Senator Omar D. Crothers, for several weeks, died. Some hours before the end came his relatives had been notified of his condition, and many of them were at his bedside when he passed away. Governor Crothers' illness began last fall, when he suffered a severe attack of the grippe, from which he never fully recovered.

Coat of Eggs and Apple Butter.

Altoona, Pa., May 27.—Driving on the track ahead of a trolley car, Farmer George Sell, of Leamersville, was tossed out of his wagon and twenty dozen of eggs and five one-gallon crocks of apple butter spilled over him. He was a sight, but only slightly hurt.

Roosevelt and Taft Renew Campaign in New Jersey.

A REVIEW OF RESULTS

Expect Taft's Popularity in Commuting Zone to Offset Roosevelt's Factory Vote.

Newark, N. J., May 27.—President Taft, ex-President Roosevelt and Senator LaFollette rested Sunday after three days of the hardest campaigning they have experienced since they began the fight for the Republican presidential nomination.

The president and Colonel Roosevelt have made more than forty speeches each since last Thursday, and both renewed their speaking tour today. Senator LaFollette has made fewer speeches, but has addressed many thousands of voters.

Governor Wilson's supporters declare that his speech at Jersey City defined the principal issue at stake in the Democratic primary campaign. The governor asserted that the real instructions given the "uninstructed" delegates on the Democratic ticket would be "anybody but Wilson."

The Republican and Democratic campaigns in New Jersey differ widely in that the Republican candidates have made their appeals upon national issues, while Governor Wilson and his supporters, and the local speakers that are pleading for the defeat of the governor have dwelt upon the party struggle within the state.

The Taft managers expressed satisfaction with the president's tour of the "commuting zone," where more than half the population of the state resides. This part of the state is also the factory districts. Roosevelt leaders say their candidate will receive a vote from the factory workers that will more than offset any advantage Mr. Taft will get from the "business men's" vote in the residence towns near New York city.

Both sides claim the four delegates-at-large, which will be elected by the vote of the whole state, and at least sixteen out of the district delegates. If anything, the Roosevelt claims are the more sweeping.

The first four districts, which in area constitute four-fifths of the state, extending from Cape May on the south as far north as New York city, are in doubt. Each side claims two as "sure."

President Taft had to interrupt his tour for a short time to have his throat treated. The president started early today visiting the towns along the Atlantic shore, which heard Colonel Roosevelt Saturday. He will continue his fight right up to the hour of opening the primary election, having arranged to speak at Glassboro at noon tomorrow, an hour before the polls open there.

Colonel Roosevelt today will invade the country to the southwest of this city, going as far south as Princeton.

JOKE RESULTS IN DEATH

Auto Stalls on Railroad After They Tamper With It.

Seranton, Pa., May 27.—A joke, that resulted in shutting off the gasoline from a feed pipe of his auto, resulted in the death of Arthur C. Severance, postmaster and merchant of Royal, Susquehanna county, when a Delaware & Hudson passenger train crashed into his automobile, stalled on a grade crossing at Carbon street, this city. Severance was ground to death under the engine.

Severance, after finishing his business in Seranton, stopped at a restaurant for luncheon. While he was in the car two or three friends conceived the idea of delaying him by tinkering with the machine. They plugged the feed pipe, and Severance was held up two hours. Finally an auto dealer set the car right, and two hours behind time, Severance set out for home.

In his haste and excitement he rushed through the crossing gates and when his car got on the tracks it stopped. The vainly tried to back the car. Spectators shouted to him to jump, but before he could leave the car the train was on him.

BIGGEST BANK NOTES OUT

Twenties, and Even Fifties, Hoarded by the Miners.

Summit Hill, Pa., May 27.—Business people throughout the Panther Creek Valley say that since the end of the suspension at the mines business has boomed, and that there was a great rush to stores by housewives who had been "skimping" during the past few months.

Twenty and even fifty dollar bills were plenty. One merchant says he never took in so many $20 bills in one day as he did the day after the miners' agreement was ratified.

Has Fit and Drowns.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 27.—Robert Lewis, nineteen years old, was found dead in a boat on the bank of a small island in the Susquehanna near Ransom. His head was submerged and death was brought about by drowning. It is thought that he was stricken with a fit and fell into the boat with his head in the water.

$22,000 PRIZE FOR WORLD'S FASTEST MOTOR BOAT

The Wm. Wrigley Jr. Trophy for the power boat championship of the world represents over $22,000. It is a perpetual trophy to be won each year by the club whose motor speed boat entry makes the best three out of five races in competition open to the world, free for all boats under 40 feet in length.

It is a reproduction in silver of a "Flying Mercury" presenting to Neptune a hydroplane motor speed boat. Neptune with his trident, dolphins and water surrounding are in bronze. The round pedestal is of green marble. The figure of Mercury and the model speed boat contain 1,000 ounces of sterling silver. The trophy stands 5 feet 5 inches high. The base is 47 inches in diameter.

Mr. Wrigley will provide annually a replica of this big $5,000 trophy, which becomes the personal property of the winner of each year's races. To provide this trophy annually will require an endowment of about $17,500, thus giving Mr. Wrigley's trophy a value of about $22,000. In addition to these prizes are a $1,500 cash prize for the winner and a $500 cash prize for the second boat.

The first races will be held at Chicago during the Water Carnival and Naval Review, Aug. 10 to 17 inclusive, 1912. It is expected that there will be boats from all over the world.

Water Carnival week at Chicago will include the other races in the Fourth Annual Regatta of the Western Power Boat Association, the International Yacht Race between the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto and the Chicago Yacht Club, the Lipson Cup Races of Columbia Yacht Club, fireworks displays, naval parades, swimming and diving contests and exhibitions by sailors, marines and naval reserves.

In all the competitions there will be handsome trophies or liberal cash prizes. William Hale Thompson, Commodore, Associated Yacht and Power Boat Clubs, Chicago, will be glad to supply information.

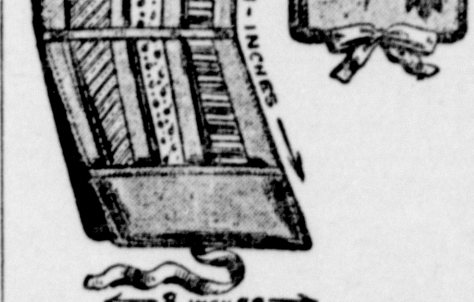

GIFT MAN WILL APPRECIATE

Practical Case for His Ties Is Something Which He Will Always Welcome.

A practical case for ties always forms an acceptable gift for a man, and in our sketch may be seen a capital article for this purpose and one also that is simple and easy to make.

It can be carried out in linen or art serge, and lined with soft silk and bound with narrow ribbon or edged with a silk cord.

The material may be cut entirely in one piece measuring 27 inches in length by 8 inches in width. After this piece of material has been lined with soft silk the ends for a distance of three inches are turned over and sewn down at the edges so that they form two pockets, into which the ends of the ties may be slipped in the manner shown in the sketch. Across the center at the point where the case folds together, a band of elastic is sewn, and in the first instance the ties are placed under this band and afterwards the ends tucked into the pockets.

Ribbon strings are attached by which the case may be secured when closed, and the word "ties" is worked across the front and the remaining space filled up with the conventional design shown in the sketch on the left hand side, which illustrates the case closed.

The case may be stiffened with thin cardboard sewn in between the lining and the cover, and scored across with a sharp penknife at the point where it folds together.

GREAT SECRET OF MILLINERY

Hat Should Be Expression of the Temperament of the Wearer, Then All Is Well.

It falls to the lot of the modern woman to choose and design her own hats if she so wishes and yet to be entirely up to date. It only needs the original idea, and that together with effect constitutes smart millinery.

The woman of temperament can find expression in her millinery, and there is nothing throughout an entire wardrobe that so changes a woman, so alters her appearance, as her varying millinery. No one can disagree that a hat eminently becoming this morning is hideous tomorrow. And the wherefore? Change of mood, therefore change of expression.

The hat that sits well down on the head, covering and hiding from view a riot of curls, but that is redeemed

PANNIER BATHING SUIT

At last we have been able to change the style of the bathing suit. The Panner effect alone has carried the bathing suit crazy in its path, and this summer we will see the Panner bathing suit on the fashionable beaches. As its sister the Panner dress, the Panner bathing suit originated in Paris. The suit is made of peau de cygne, and is made up either in plain or fancy fashion.

Must Believe It

When Well-Known Gettysburg People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Gettysburg the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

P. G. McGannon, R. F. D. 4, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My kidneys were weak and I suffered intensely from pains in my back. I used several remedies and doctors' prescriptions but with no success until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. As soon as I began the use of this preparation, my kidneys became normal and gradually the symptoms of my trouble disappeared. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally and in view of my satisfactory experience, I am only too pleased to recommend them."

The People's Drug Store Guarantees Rheuma For Rheumatism

What chance does and sufferer take when RHEUMA is guaranteed to banish rheumatism, lumbago, gout and kidney ailments, or money back?

Why not investigate this offer: talk to The People's Drug Store about it. RHEUMA surely does drive rheumatic poison from the system, brings swollen joint back to normal and relieves agony in two days.

People so crippled with rheumatism that they could not walk have been absolutely freed from the iron grasp of the demon, rheumatism, with less than half a dozen 50-cent bottles. A few hours after the first dose, RHEUMA begins to dissolve the uric acid and drive it from the body through the natural channels.

Everybody can afford RHEUMA—the price is only 50 cents a bottle, and the dose is small.

SENATOR LORIMER.

Prefers Being "Fired" to Resigning His Seat.

PHILADELPHIA NURSES THREATEN TO STRIKE

Angered at Criticism Directed Against Them.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Angered at the criticism that has been directed at them during the past week, every nurse in the Municipal hospital for contagious diseases threatens to go out on strike, according to Dr. A. A. Cairns, chief medical inspector of the bureau of health, necessitating the closing of the hospital and the sending of every patient to his or her home. Two of the nurses left the institution and others are expected to follow.

The first hint of trouble among the nurses came when Dr. Cairns intimating to one of the mayor's investigating committee that the women were dissatisfied and that their parents and families were aroused over the charges of mismanagement, irregularities and revelries which have appeared in the newspapers.

In the institution are thousands of men, women and children, suffering from various diseases. "I will not attempt to fill their places," Dr. Cairns said. "If the nurses strike it will be the fault of those who have directed the criticisms against the institution, and it is they who have to take the blame."

SLAIN MAN FOUND IN RIVER

Widow Held as Witness, While Police Seek Her Friend.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 27.—One of the most sensational murder mysteries in the history of the Beaver Valley has been brought to light by developments following the finding in the Ohio river of the body of Charles R. Royal, of Freedom, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer, who disappeared from his home last Tuesday.

The body bore a two-inch gash in the throat, apparently made by a razor, and there was also evidence of a heavy blow on the head. In the cellar of the dead man's home the police found a blood-covered razor, a broken hair, also spotted with blood, and a pool of blood, while a trail of blood led from the house toward the river.

When Royal's widow heard of the recovery of the body she collapsed. She took a street car for Rochester, but Chief of Police L. H. White had her brought back and ordered that she be detained as an important witness for the inquest.

The police are looking for a man said to be a friend of the family. Several neighbors have told the police that they spoke to Mrs. Royal and a strange man in front of the Royal home shortly before Tuesday mid night.

Margaret Royal, the eight-year-old daughter of the murdered man, told a girl friend that her father had a fight with a man in the house and was stabbed.

The widow says that she and her husband retired about eleven o'clock Tuesday night after a quiet evening at home. She awoke at six o'clock the next morning to find her husband had arisen, but as he often got up early she paid no attention to the matter.

LORIMER WILL NOT RESIGN

Illinois Senator Will Fight to Last Ditch.

IS ILL AT CHICAGO HOME

Declares If He Must Get Out of Senate He Prefers Being "Fired" to Resigning Under Fire.

Chicago, May 27.—Despite the pleadings of Vice President Sherman, who pointed out the grave situation confronting the Republican party, the necessity for harmony and the elimination of all conditions likely to create criticism of the Republican organization on the eve of a national election, William Lorimer, junior United States senator from Illinois, declines to resign his seat in the chief deliberative body of the country.

In other words, if Mr. Lorimer must get out of the senate, he prefers to be "fired" rather than resign. The senator was informed that a poll of the senate showed 40 in his favor and 39 against, with 16 senators in the doubtful class. This doubtful class has been carefully polled, but the result has not been favorable to the Lorimers.

"I will fight this to the last ditch," is the reported utterance of Senator Lorimer from his bed of illness, although absolute denial was made that "Sunny Jim" Sherman, the vice president, had been his visitor. "I was elected to the United States senate honestly, and I would rather stand up and be counted out by my colleagues than to yield to any pressure to resign under fire."

Senator Lorimer, who is president of the La Salle Street National bank, has been confined to his home by illness for several weeks, the nature of which has not been divulged.

At his residence it was announced that he would not answer the telephone. As to the whereabouts of James S. Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, none of the members of Senator Lorimer's family had the slightest knowledge, at least so they declared.

Many senators within the last six weeks have strongly urged Mr. Lorimer to resign. He was told that the senate had exonerated him once by a vote of 46 to 40, and the committee on privileges and elections has twice pronounced that his election was not procured by bribery and corruption. It has been made plain to Lorimer that he cannot expect to be vindicated by the senate.

Vice President Sherman has been carefully and thoroughly looking into that feature of the situation. He prepared a poll of the senate and could find but forty senators who directly declared themselves friendly to retaining Mr. Lorimer in his seat. This is eight votes short of sufficient to prevent his exclusion.

The enemies of Mr. Lorimer count up fifty-one votes for the resolution of exclusion. This is not based on a careful poll, but only checked off according to previous votes and expressions given. The names of but thirty-nine senators have been given who have openly declared that they will vote to unseat Lorimer.

RED-HOT POKER FOR BABY

Maniac Mother Checked In Her Frightful Sacrifice.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 27.—Grasping her four-months-old baby by one leg and swinging it around her head, Mrs. Paul Cosmack, thirty-five years old, of near Universal, was chased a half-mile to the home of an acquaintance, where, it is said, she attempted to drive a red-hot poker into the child's body.

Mrs. Cosmack was overpowered and the child rescued. The mother was later committed to an insane asylum. The conduct of the woman was first noticed by neighbors. Tossing the baby into the air, she was seen to catch it before it fell to the ground, and then, clutching it by one leg, she swung it over her head. When neighbors tried to interfere she fled to the home of Mrs. Mattie Kuntz, some distance from her home.

Here the mother picked up a poker in the coals from the kitchen stove and tried to jab it into the body of the baby, when her pursuers rushed in and overpowered her.

A physician was called to examine the woman, and he declared that she was insane.

Enlisted Man Drowns.

Newport, R. I., May 27.—Clarence Brewster Sexton, of Auburn, N. Y., a first class electrician on the torpedo boat destroyer McCall, was drowned in Newport harbor. Sexton, with other members of the McCall's crew, were returning to their boat in a launch. Sexton fell over the stern and disappeared almost immediately.

Body Weighted by Stone In River.

New York, May 27.—The body of a man weighted down by a thirty-five-pound stone fastened to the neck by a wire was found in the Harlem river. There were no marks to give a clue to the identity of the man, who was about fifty years old.

WOMAN JUMPS TO DEATH IN STREET

She Leaps From Eighth Floor of Hotel.

New York, May 27.—Mrs. Charles M. Heiden, widow of the late president of the Albany Brewing company, who returned from Europe only a few hours before, jumped from the eighth floor of the Hotel San Jacinto and was instantly killed. The force of the jump carried Mrs. Heiden out over the sidewalk into the street.

Mrs. Heiden was about fifty-three years of age, and after the death of her husband a year ago she suffered from nervousness and melancholia. Just exactly what did occur in the room just before the tragedy was not learned.

Through some relatives it was said that Mrs. Heiden had fallen. There were at least three witnesses to the tragedy, two of whom have told the police they saw the woman jump far out from the window. The general opinion is that an uncontrollable impulse due to looking from a window at a great height caused Mrs. Heiden to jump.

KILLS MAN AND WIFE

Slayer Fired Seventeen Shots Into Their Bodies.

San Diego, May 27.—An old grudge incited Ben G. Lewis to lie in wait for C. H. Tolliver and his wife and killed them with bullets as they entered their home after an automobile trip.

Lewis was formerly secretary for Tolliver and was familiar with his home. He carried away the bulldog on guard and tied the dog up. Then when the Tollivers appeared he opened fire and shot seventeen times from an automatic revolver.

Tolliver fell dead. Mrs. Tolliver had just strength enough to reach the telephone and call the police when she dropped and expired.

Lewis was found nearby greatly excited. He confessed to the murder and declared it was due to the fact that the Tollivers had induced his wife to leave him.

Chinese Sues White Wife For Divorce.

New York, May 27.—Perhaps the first divorce suit in this county in which the plaintiff is a Chinese and the defendant a white woman, has been brought in the supreme court by Lee Ping against his wife, Laura Ping, a merchant in Brooklyn. He says that on May 7 his wife left him, taking their child and going to the home of Lee Loy, a restaurant keeper, at 107 Park street, Manhattan.

WARM WEATHER STYLE

COSTUMES FOR LITTLE MAIDS ESPECIALLY BECOMING.

Short Sleeves and No Collars WNI Be the Rule—Very Little Trimming on Hats—Wraps Continue Short in Length.

The little maid's dressy summer frock is still to be collarless and short sleeved, but when this cut is unbecoming to a child, as it would be for a thin little maid not in the best of health, it is an easy enough matter to add a gump and undersleeve of tucked or plain net to either style.

In point of coats and headgear, the mother who wants her child to look well must surely consider the styles set forth by the juvenile shops, for somehow these people seem to get the best ideas going for children's wraps and millinery. There is a delicious skiminess about the trimmings of the little hats—just enough and no more—and while suggesting the adult cuts of older garments the wraps are also simple and bewitching. With the long coat there is a tendency to round the fronts of all, but if called "long" the wrap is still some inches short of the skirt bottom and often quite as short as the knees. For dressy use one shop showed a number of these curtailed coats in pongees of various sorts, silk, poplin, satin and lined velvet. The pongee affairs sported deep collars and cuffs of the popular ratine lace, the collars often with the deep back dip used for the Quaker model, and the cuffs in a straight, loose piece merely buttoning over the bottom of the sleeves. With the plain satins and silks, which were in every color as well as in black, there was sometimes an under collar in a stripe, this and a touch of the same on the sleeves giving the coat a very dashing appearance.

A favorite hat of the season is shown in the picture, the two pretty little mushrooms being the sort of headgear liked for little maids who will spend a good part of their time in the country or else wear rather simple wash frocks all summer long in town. The top hat is of white linen with a hand-scalloped edge and a garnish of pink satin ribbon. The lower one is of white duck, braided and embroidered, and of course each hat may be unbuttoned from the crown for laundering.

This washable species of millinery is very convenient for the wee girls who soon run more elegant hats, and despite its simplicity such millinery has, nevertheless, a very choice air. The dainty little hats can easily be made at home, and if there is no gift for the embroidery and braiding stitching may finish the edges.

MARY DEAN.

On a Round Table.

It is perfectly proper to use a square tablecloth on a round table, but it is wise to use one that has an all-over design or a round one, says the Ladies' Home Journal. A square cloth that has a round design—that is, one converging from a circle near the edge of the table toward the center—is the prettiest on a round table. Very pretty designs of this kind have contained flowers, such as chrysanthemums, daffodils, etc., gathered together in a circle around the center piece; the stems stretching toward the sides of the table. Some hostesses take pride in having the natural flowers in the center of the table match the flowers in the table cloth.

Shooting on an English Estate.

A gentleman from London was invited to go for a day's snipe shooting in the country. The invitation was accepted and the host and guest shouldered guns and sallied forth in quest of game.

After a time a solitary snipe rose, and promptly fell to the visitor's first barrel.

The host's face fell also.

"We may as well return," he remarked gloomily, "for that was the only snipe in the neighborhood."

The bird had afforded excellent sport to all his friends for six weeks.

Large Canal ready in 1915.

The New York barge canal for the transportation of ore to New York harbor will be ready for use in 1915, according to State Engineer John A. Biesel. The Champlain canal, 81 miles long, will be the first section completed and will be opened in 1914. The boats to be used on this canal will be 207 feet in length and have 30-foot beams. They will draw 12 feet of water.

DAVIS' 2-4-1

As its name implies, (two-for-one) is very different from other paints, in that it is so much, that you only require one-half as much, as though you bought a paint ready mixed. For instance, should you require say thirty gallons of high grade ready mixed paint at $1.75 to paint your property, you would have to buy only 15 gallons of 2-4-1, at same price and 15 gallons of Pure Linseed Oil at 70 cents, a clear saving to YOU of $15.00 on your paint bill. Britz of Headquarters

She was not in the mood for discussion of the detective's quest this evening. The afternoon tea is Sherry's, the short ride home, including the turn in the park, with her two most persistent admirers, this cozy homecoming in the dusk of a winter day, however unseasonable the weather, had made her meditative. Even as she spoke to the detective and sank dreamily into a conversation chair beside the fire, her eyes strayed from Sands to Griswold, from Griswold to Sands, with the vague look of a woman trying to decide a momentous question. Griswold, ever ready to seize the smallest advantage, promptly occupied the other end of the chair. Facing the beautiful widow, he ignored both Britz and Sands, and he threw into the glances he showered upon the woman all the caress at his command.

Britz eyed Sands sharply before replying. He gripped his chin with thumb and finger, and seemed studying the big millionaire. As a matter of fact, he was watching Griswold. His gaze, even as it appeared focused most strongly on Sands, in reality was concentrated on the clubman, who shared the serpentine chair with the wealthy widow.

"I want a plan of the room," said Britz at length. "A sketch of the safe, too. One of my men was to have made draughts for me, but I had to send him out of town at short notice on another end of the case. So, and he smiled slowly at his poor workmanship. 'I'm doing the best I can.'"

"May I see what you have drawn?" asked Mrs. Missioner pleasantly. "Oh, Mr. Britz," she laughed, holding the paper at arm's length. "I'm afraid you'll never make an artist. I hope," she added hastily, "you have no professional pride on that point?"

"None whatever," returned the detective. He liked a woman with a sense of humor, and there was something about Mrs. Missioner that appealed to him anyway. "I told you I was merely a substitute."

Sands, towering above the widow on the hearth-rug, shot a single, indifferent look at the drawing. Griswold's glance brushed it carelessly, but the widow's interest in it was echoed by him in so far that he took the diagram from her and examined it for a few seconds. Then, with a short, harsh laugh, he half turned to Britz, alternately bending and straightening the paper in his fingers.

"Ever hear of such a thing as perspective, detective?" he asked condescendingly. Britz overlooked the air of superiority. He shook his head thoughtfully. There was inquiry in his eyes as he waited for Griswold's next words. "You'd starve to death in a studio," the clubman continued scornfully.

A crisp little laugh from Britz was the only reply. He crossed the floor and made a microscopic examination of the safe. Then he circled the room, tapping the walls again, moving pieces of furniture to look behind them, turning corners of the rug, and gazing reflectively at the ceiling. All the indian servant, appeared noiselessly at the door, started slightly at the sight of the detective, and vanished as silently. Britz pretended not to see the Hindoo, but, in his movements about the room, he paused at the threshold, and glanced quickly down the passage. There was no one in sight.

All that time, Curtis Griswold, having ripped off the sheet on which Britz had drawn the rude diagram, was sketching idly as he talked in an undertone to the widow. His words held her attention. She took no note of the detective's wandering, the heavy silence of Sands, the soundless appearance and disappearance of the Hindoo. Ripples of laughter revealed that she, at least, was amused by what Griswold was saying. It was when Britz, having finished his detailed examination of the room, stopped close beside him that they looked up.

"I see you are an artist, Mr. Griswold," remarked the sleuth, his eyes on the paper under the clubman's pencil.

Griswold was genuinely surprised. For the first time, he seemed to become aware of the shape his idle tracing on the pad had taken. In the course of his brief chat with Mrs. Missioner, he had sketched clearly, accurately, artistically, not only the room, but the great safe at the farther end—sketched them far better in those few minutes than Britz could have done in as many hours. His drawing, almost automatic, showed the subconscious skill of—to say the least—an excellent amateur.

"Why, that's so," he said, holding up the drawing indifferently. His prowess with the pencil was an old story to the widow and his rival, Griswold tossed the pad and pencil on the table and resumed his talk with Mrs. Missioner, turning the coldest of cold shoulders toward the sleuth.

But Britz was not to be shouldered aside so easily. He addressed himself toward the widow, winning her instant attention with his first query:

"Has Miss Holcomb ever told you much about her last year in Smith?" he asked.

Mrs. Missioner's eyebrows arched. "Nothing important enough to remember, Mr. Britz," she said, starting incredulously. The detective had already assured her warmly of his belief in Ellnor's innocence. Could it be he was not going to clear the girl after all?

"You know nothing of her engagement to a Harvard undergraduate, then?" he persisted.

The widow shook her head.

"Before her father lost his fortune. I mean," said the sleuth.

"Neither before nor after, Mr. Britz," replied Mrs. Missioner, rising impatiently. "Miss Holcomb, being a beauty, naturally received a great deal of attention, but I never heard of a betrothal."

Lieutenant Britz, still standing before the hearth, moved to let Mrs. Missioner pass. The widow pushed aside the heavy hangings of a window and peered into the twilight backed by the trees in the park. Britz, having moved, took another step. Those gray eyes of his shifted so rapidly they were upon the three others almost simultaneously. So gradually, so slowly did he approach the table that no one noticed his hand upon it. Resting that hand upon the edge, he went on:

"I am sorry you are not more minutely informed concerning Miss Holcomb's university days." Slowly his fingers extended until the tips rested on the tiny pad. "In a case like this, the smallest knowledge may be of value." Slowly, ever so slowly, the fingers contracted, drawing the pad with them. "Perhaps if you make an effort, you can recall something about the prisoner's past, Mrs. Missioner?" The pad was in his hand. Deftly he tore off the top sheet and enclosed it in his fingers. As the widow started to speak, and entirely unobserved by Griswold or Sands, the detective slipped that agile hand into his pocket. When the hand came out, it was empty.

"No," said the rich woman with more emphasis than would be expected of her large good nature. "I can recall nothing. I am sure there is nothing to recall. You must look elsewhere if you seek to forge links in a chain of evidence against Miss Holcomb. I have told you all I know—all I could possibly know."

"That being the case," said Britz briskly, "there is nothing more to say. With your permission, I will send a draughtsman to make plans of the room and diagrams of the safe." He hesitated. "I suppose these little art gems of mine," he resumed with a dry smile, "may as well meet the fate they deserve." With a quick movement, he threw all the sheets of paper on the table and the pad as well into the heart of the fire.

"Guess I'll say 'Good-afternoon,'" and with a bow to Mrs. Missioner and the coldest of nods to the men, he left the room, the widow's detached "Good-afternoon, Mr. Britz," floating after him.

Was he mistaken, Britz asked himself as he walked quickly along the passage, or did he see a pair of eyes beneath a towering turban peer at him from the corner of a cross corridor? He made a mental note to have the Hindoo servant watched more closely as, treating Blodgett's loftiness with exasperating indifference, he tripped down the steps of the Missioner mansion, and hurried along a path in the park. Once in the shelter of the shadows, the detective quickened his pace, heading south.

He stopped under the long-hanging bough of a great oak tree to get a better light. As he was about to strike a match, his use of that particular cigar suddenly ceased, for, gripping, clinging, strangling, something soft and silky was drawn tightly about his neck, his elbows were jammed against his sides, his knees were squeezed together so closely he could not take a step, and in another minute he found himself bound, gagged, helpless, with three men sitting on him, bowling rapidly in a cab along the park drive in a direction which, owing to the swirling excitement of the last sixty seconds, he could not ascertain. All he knew was that he was a captive; that he had been seized in a way unusual to city highwaymen, and that for the present a struggle for release would be simply a useless—perhaps worse than useless—expenditure of his strength.

EXPERT ON FALLING SAFELY

Motorcycle Rider Explains Why He Isn't Killed When He Tumbles on Saucer Track.

"People who know nothing about it think that falling from a motorcycle going at high speed is sure death," remarked Joe Walters, the famous racer, who was recently spilled from his machine while it was moving at the rate of 90 miles an hour, and escaped with a few scratches. "As a matter of fact it is safer to fall from a machine moving at 100 miles an hour than it is to fall from one going at half that rate of speed. If the speed is great enough to throw the rider free of his machine he slides along the track and escapes with a few scratches, or, possibly, some broken bones. The development of the motorcycle saucer track greatly lessens the danger. If the rider is at the bottom of the track he runs small danger of being injured, provided he has presence of mind to keep from under the motor in case of an upset. The few riders that have been killed were either caught under the machines or were riding near the top of the track and brought up against one of the posts. In my fall at Los Angeles the law of gravitation brought into play by the third of a mile circumference of the track kept my weight and the weight of the machine off the boards until the momentum had slackened and there was practically no danger. The marks I made on the track will bear out my statement. There is a scratch about fifty feet in length almost immediately in front of the paddock, 200 feet from where I started to fall. The mark shows the comparatively short distance the machine and I slipped before coming to a standstill. The only damage I sustained was a bent pedal and some minor scratches."

SYSTEM IS NEEDED IN THIS

Operation of Spring House Cleaning Seems to Cry for Reform, Says Mene Man.

We have no desire to pose as one criticizing another's method of work. Our notion is that a man who has spent his life running a hotel knows how to do it better than we do, who patronize hotels only for toothpicks, matches and writing paper. Our motto is: "Shoemaker, mind your own business!" and we adhere strictly to it. Ordinarily we let the lady who runs our house alone. If we think she is making a bed backwards, or putting too much baking powder in the biscuits, we say nothing. Bedmaking and cooking are her profession; ours is paying the bills.

But with housecleaning time approaching we pause a moment here to suggest that there is no overwhelming anxiety on the part of mere man to have a house cleaned from cellar to dome in a single day. Admitting that we know very little about housecleaning as an art, we declare that it seems unnecessary to rip up every room in the house as a starter. We cannot see why it is necessary to take the rug off the back bedroom floor in order to get all the dust off the parlor pictures. We may be wrong, but it strikes us as curious that she cannot clean behind the sofa in the den unless the downstairs hall is barricaded with the dining room furniture. Why it is necessary to dump everything out of the front bedroom in order to clean the kitchen windows has never been made clear to us.

We realize that we are treading on dangerous ground. But surely if there ever was anything in need of a little system it is spring housecleaning.—Detroit Free Press.

When Bravery is Easy. General Marion Maus, apropos of bravery, uttered at a dinner at Vancouver Barracks an opinion that was quoted with approval in Portland. "It is very easy," said General Maus, "for a man to be as brave as David when Goliath is going to tackle some one else."
